

ABSTRACT

5

The present invention relates to cancer therapy and to novel anticancer agents having a mechanism of action which is quite specific. It also relates to novel chemical compounds and their therapeutic application in humans.

10